

Wellbeing resources and contacts in England

A directory of professional and national wellbeing support services

This directory is a comprehensive overview of national wellbeing support organisations. Each organisation offers a library of online resources and provides the details of how they offer support. It also includes a summary of the services available for pharmacists through the charity Pharmacist Support.

As contact details and opening hours can change, please check each organisation's website before sharing information or accessing non-urgent support.

Urgent help

If someone's life is at risk, for example, they have seriously injured themselves or taken an overdose or you do not feel you can keep yourself or someone else safe – Call 999 or go to A&E

A mental health emergency should be taken as seriously as a physical one. You will not be wasting anyone's time.

Around the clock support

NHS 111 – If urgent mental health help is needed but it is not an immediate emergency Call 111 (and select the mental health option) available 24/7 or ask for an urgent GP appointment.

Wellbeing support from Pharmacist Support

Pharmacist Support is the pharmacy profession's independent, non-membership charity. It offers a wide variety of free and confidential support to pharmacists and their families, former pharmacists, trainee pharmacists and pharmacy students. The charity has strict procedures in place to protect the data and confidentiality of anyone who reaches out for support and doesn't report or share any personal data with the GPhC.

The charity's four pillars of support are Financial Health & Support (which includes financial assistance to people who are facing financial difficulty and Specialist Advice for debt and benefits, as well as general guidance and advice for daily personal budgeting), Mental Health & Wellbeing Support (which includes counselling, anonymous Listening Friends Peer Support and addiction support), Studying & Training Support (which includes free training workshops to help manage the pressures of university, the training year and of daily life) and Workplace Wellbeing Support (which also includes free training workshops on topics such as Stress Management and Building Resilience, the Science Behind Wellbeing and Building Assertiveness).

There is a large library of support, guidance and resources on the Pharmacist Support website, but if you can't find the information you are looking for, the charity can be reached via an online enquiry form, email and phone. The team manages enquiries Monday to Friday and aims to respond within five working days. Whilst the charity isn't a crisis service, it cares deeply about safety and wellbeing. If you or someone you know needs urgent help, the charity encourages you to reach out for the right support via the Samaritans (free phone 116 123) or your local emergency services.

Pharmacist Support is proud to help people from such a caring profession, and each year provides thousands of acts of support. By championing wellbeing, Pharmacist Support's vision is for no one in its pharmacy family to face challenging times without the charity by their side.
